I think we all need to contribute what we can to support wildlife. The people who work hard to preserve our natural landscape already struggle to come up with funds to support their work. I used to work on conservation projects with ODFW so I know how hard the work is. Everyone contributing just a little bit of money through this tax can make a big long term difference. We all enjoy Oregon's nature by hiking and other forms of recreation, so we are all responsible for protecting it.
