Measure, Appointment or Topic: HB4153

I strongly oppose this measure, particularly in a time when we are becoming dangerously dependent on fewer and larger businesses in our society. In terms of our food supply this is particularly foolish. We need a diverse and robust network of as many varied and preferably local food sources as we can get. There is no good reason to create obstacles for the smaller operators to flourish.

I would add that regulations such as this are a glaring example of why so many people have developed a distaste and mistrust of government , contributing to the situation we find ourselves in. Democrats in blue states better stop giving people reasons to hate government or more people will drift rightward or just stop voting.
