HB4134

The natural environment is what makes Oregon special. I have lived here since 1979, and hiking and camping in Oregon's forests, deserts and coast have been the best experiences in the state. It is crucial that there be a source of permanent funding to preserve the fish, mammals, and reptiles that are imperiled by all the activities humans inflict upon nature. Passing this bill will be for the populations of Oregon that do not have a vote. It will also be good for people who live here. It will also be good for the visitors who come seeking the nature that has disappeared in so many other places. Vote to pass this bill!
