To whom it may concern,

I gives me great concern that we are wasting a short session on this measure. The referendum that constitutes signed this summer clearly said November. It did not say "whenever works best for Oregon legislature". This whole tax referendum process has shown the lengths that our representatives are willing to go to NOT serve the people but to serve themselves and the managing party. Keep the referendum on the November ballot as legally stated and hold true to the sworn oath taken at the time of serving. Anything less is a display of dishonesty, selfishness and corruption of the rule of law in Oregon. The Oregon legislature passed an unpopular tax hike to which they had full rights to pass. Just as the people of Oregon had the full right to go through the referendum process and apply the bill to the ballot. Follow the law is the best foot forward especially in the current political climate of today.
