Dear Chair Golden, Vice-Chair Nash, and Members of the Committee,

My name is Sylvia Ravenberg, and I'm twelve years old. I go to seventh grade at Evergreen Middle School, and I am writing in support of the Make Polluters Pay - Climate Resilience Superfund bill for many reasons.

Climate change is a huge problem for everybody. It affects our homes, our environment, and our physical condition. This bill will tax big pollution companies who knew this would happen, and use the money to help fund climate disaster prevention and relief, which would help so many people. A few years ago, my family and I were driving back from visiting relatives in California, and we couldn't even get out of the car because it was so smokey outside, even to go inside the gas station. The sky was so red that it was hard to see the sun. This went on for miles and miles past where we had been at the time, and it was hours before we got out of the car.

Climate change is impacting our communities today, and this bill can change things here in Oregon. For those affected by climate disasters, and for all citizens, I urge you to pass SB 1541 to Make Polluters Pay, and improve life in Oregon.
