Measure, Appointment or Topic: SB1599

Members, the complete partisan nature of changing a referendum to benefit a bill that the public has clearly expressed not only a desire to have the public vote on but also against is totally against the public want. If the governor wants a poorly written bill so badly which she chose to ram through in the special session, she should have to exist on the same ballot as her decision. The work that would be accomplished by moving the referendum to May would be negligible compared to having more people have a say. You made your bed, live in it.
