When the residents of Oregon stood up to have our voices heard and got the signatures to get it on the November election. That's where it should be. Not going against Oregons constitution. Trying to push this bill for May elections is a democrats way of trying to get what they want. They know mid term elections don't have a great turn out. Sounds like Kotex doesn't want her name and this "transportation tax" (Robery), on November election.
