As an Oregonian wanting what I signed to be upheld, I'm not surprised by those politicians in this state to override our wishes. As one of the 250k + who signed the initiative to void your gas tax, and other fee increases, we all wanted this on the November ballot. This was stated in the initiative. By those politicians wanting to override the will of the people, this is just another act of political gamesmanship in order to keep Queen Tina in office. Just look at the status of our state compared to those run by conservatives. If I could leave this state I would. You will eventually run out of those to tax in order to keep your liberal give aways intact. I would hope you come to your senses and vote this bill down. And I wish the GOP had the balls not to give you a forum. But then they don't want to lose their positions in politics.
