As a citizen of Oregon for 73 years, I do not understand why the voice of the people is not good enough for Democrat politicians in Oregon. Overwhelming opposition to more taxes has been legally been documented through petitions, but yet the state legislature has been doing everything possible to defeat those voices. Let's do the right thing and put this vote on the ballot in November and let the people speak. If Democrats are so sure that this taxation without representation is the right thing to do, then there should be no arguing over when to have the vote.
