I have never volunteered to collect signatures for a political cause in my 55 years. The way the majority party handled this tax increase made me angry. That anger has now translated into involvement. i am a new PCP for the Republican Party and I am hear today to let you know that if you make enough of us angry change will happen. My wife and I donated our time to collect over 300 signatures. The majority talkes about trust and transparency but your actions are louder than words. We employ you. We made it clear that we wanted this on the NOVEMBER ballot. if you change our demand you will create many more like me. Folks are tired of the tricks. Vote no.
