I truly find it remarkable the way the legislature has tried every way possible to stop the will of Oregon voters. Yet again the democrats are trying to not be accountable for their actions. By trying to move the vote regarding the transportation tax to May instead of November. The democrats and the governor shoved this through. And now they are back peddling because they don't want to own this fiasco. Hoping the voters will forget by November. Over 250,000 thousand people signed the measure to be voted on in November. And that's what they expect. I for one will not forget this blatant attempt of smoke and mirrors. I know my fellow Oregonians won't ether.
