With enrollment numbers dropping and Oregon education ranked the lowest of any state in the Union, you want still more money to fix what took time to break??? I THINK NOT.

The educational system doesn't need more dollars to return to the basics of reading, writing and math. Clearly, the whole progressive mentality has corrupted the entire system so until that mentality goes away, none of the issues will be resolved and the ones first in line to pay for that failure are the students (all grades, all levels) themselves and then society as a whole.
