Dear House Committee on Education,

I am asking you to pass the requirement that all schools admit students to any and all school-based learning and extra-curricular activities without discrimination of any kind. As an educator, I feel strongly that all children be able to access education. Indeed, many immigrant families lawfully pay taxes they otherwise would benefit from only marginally. Without citizenship status, they can't collect the social security they pay into, but at least they can send their kids to school.

Let us not fail the children!

Sincerely, Kirsten Davis
