I live on the border of Hood River, OR and spend a lot of time recreating in OR. My family visits here and often stays in Hood River, and I have traveled all over OR for tourism and business. We feel it is very important to protect wildlife and we are happy to see part of our hotel bills go toward protecting habitat. Wildlife is part of the draw for visiting the state. We need our wetlands and forest habitat to keep the state beautiful, and help entice people outdoors.
