Climate changes poses greater threats every year. The threat to wildlife is a threat to humans as our success is interwoven. We need these creatures to complete food webs and cycles that cycle nutrients and feed the trees and waterways. They play crucial roles in the air we breath and the food we eat. In order to protect them, we need funding to do it. The hunting dollars and Pittman Robinson act only funds game species. Those species rely on food sources that have not been studied or their protection been funded. We need to start taking measures to protect irreplaceable species, and we need money to do it. Please support the increase of state transient and lodging tax to support wildlife.
