As someone who cares deeply about the future of Portland, I strongly support the Portland Trail Blazers staying and believing in the reimagined Moda Center. The Blazers are more than a basketball team they're part of the identity, energy, and economic heartbeat of our city. A revitalized Moda Center represents investment in community, jobs, downtown vibrancy, and the shared experiences that bring Oregonians together. Keeping the team here and modernizing the arena sends a clear message that Portland believes in its future and I believe in that future too.
